DISTRICT ATTORNEY

1500 Sansom Street, 4th Floor | Philadelphia, PA 19102 | 1-888-Seth4DA

December 5, 2008

Tomorrow, I will officially announce my candidacy to be Philadelphia's next District Attorney at the National Constitution Center, and I hope you can attend.

I chose this location because the freedoms celebrated there – liberty, justice and domestic tranquility – are inextricably linked to being safe and secure. Unfortunately, too many Philadelphians do not feel safe, and that should be unacceptable to us all.

I am running for District Attorney because I want to reform the way the District Attorney's Office runs and develop a true partnership between law enforcement, the District Attorney and the court system. Together, we can make Philadelphia a safer place to live, work and raise our families.

In the weeks and months ahead, I will be campaigning across the city, talking to voters and laying out my vision for reforming the District Attorney's Office. I hope to have the opportunity to meet with each of you on the campaign trail.

Please join me tomorrow as I kick off my campaign. Together, we can be the change our city needs.

Thank you,

Seth

P.S. In today's Daily News, there's a new poll that shows that among those voters who have made a decision, I am the clear front runner for District Attorney, leading all others by over 20 points. There's a lot to do, but today's poll is good news.
